Yes. For this app, I'd avoid the obvious pink + purple "couples app" look. Your scrapbook concept gives us an opportunity to make it feel more like a beautiful personal journal that happens to be digital.

My strongest direction: Warm Vintage Scrapbook

Terracotta
#CB997E
Dusty Rose
#DDBEA9
Peach Cream
#FFE8D6
Soft Apricot
#B7B7A4
Sage Fern
#A5A58D
Olive Green
#6B705C

Dried Floral Palette

CARTE POSTALE

Color	Hex	Use
Paper Cream	`#F7F1E6`	Main background
Warm Ivory	`#FFF9F0`	Cards / surfaces
Dusty Rose	`#C9827D`	Love/relationship accent
Terracotta	`#B9684F`	Primary CTA / important actions
Sage	`#8D9B83`	Secondary accent
Butter Yellow	`#E7C96B`	Coins / rewards
Ink Brown	`#3D3530`	Main text
Muted Brown	`#887970`	Secondary text

The important thing is that cream is the visual foundation rather than white.

🃏 I would make the Hunt Cards slightly different

This is where you can have some fun.

Your app background could be:

Paper Cream #F7F1E6

Then Hunt Cards can have subtly different paper colors:

Morning card

- Cream
- Butter yellow
- Sage

Evening card

- Dusty rose
- Muted lavender
- Warm blue

But keep the colors muted, like actual stationery.

Paper Rose
www.paperrose.com.au

Afternoon in the Park
Distress Color Palette

see the full collection
at shopanemoia.com

That gives you a nice possibility where every Hunt feels like receiving a little collectible card.

🪙 And make Coins visually distinct

I'd use the Butter Yellow specifically for Coins:

🪙 `#E7C96B`

Not because it's literally gold, but because it feels like a little collectible token.

So you'd see:

> +10 🪙

when completing a photo.

And when they enter the scrapbook shop:

> 620 🪙

That creates a consistent visual association.

❤️ Don't overuse the pink

I'd reserve Dusty Rose `#C9827D` for emotional moments:

- Hearts
- Reactions
- Relationship elements
- Favorite memories
- Romantic Hunt categories

Then Terracotta `#B9684F` can be the functional action color:

> OPEN
>
> SUBMIT
>
> ADD TO OUR STORY

That separation is useful:

Rose = emotion
Terracotta = action
Yellow = rewards
Sage = calm/secondary

📖 The scrapbook itself can have more colors

This is where I wouldn't constrain the entire app to one strict palette.

The app UI should have the consistent palette above.

But the scrapbook can contain collectible themes.

For example:

Classic

Cream + terracotta + sage

Love Letter

Dusty rose + cream + red

Sunday Morning

Butter yellow + cream + sage

Midnight

Deep navy + cream + dusty blue

Summer

Muted peach + butter yellow + sky blue

Autumn

Terracotta + cream + olive

So the app remains recognizable while Our Story can become increasingly personalized.

🎨 The overall visual formula I'd use

70% warm neutrals
20% muted accent colors
10% stronger accents

That keeps it from looking like a children's game while still giving it personality.

And stylistically I'd aim for:

> “A vintage scrapbook redesigned by a modern app designer.”

rather than:

> “A modern app with scrapbook stickers.”

That distinction could make the visual identity really good.